"When someone seeks," said Siddhartha, "then it easily happens that his eyes see only the thing that he seeks, and he is able to find nothing, to take in nothing because he always thinks only about the thing he is seeking, because he has one goal, because he is obsessed with his goal. Seeking means: having a goal."

Blends elements of psychoanalysis and Asian religions to probe an Indian aristocrat's efforts to renounce sensual and material pleasures and discover ultimate spiritual truths

"El joven brahman llamado Siddharta emprende un viaje que comienza en la casa de su padre y termina en un río. En esta aventura personal conoce personas y vive experiencias que irán transformando su forma de entender la Verdad."

What we understand today as Buddhism, actually began as an off spring of Hinduism in the great Indus Valley. The founder of this great religion is of course our insightful prince, Gautama Siddhartha, He is the focus of this brief poetic biography. An epic saga of persistence, inspiration and mysticism. By no means is it a simple task to provide a precise historical account of the life of Prince Siddhartha, since no actual journalistic account has been accurately documented. As such, there is no definite history of Siddhartha only time trusted biography. Exact details and all precise accounts are moot. He was simply born! He simply lived. He simply transformed.

Hermann Hesse, the author, has narrated a lot about Siddhartha and his spiritual journey. A lot has been discussed about Siddhartha. He is loved by everyone. He is a source of joy for everybody, but he, Siddhartha, is not a source of joy for himself, he finds no delight in himself. Siddhartha has started to nurse discontent in himself, he has started to feel that the love of his father and his mother, and love of his friend, will not bring him joy forever and ever, will not nurse him, freed him, satisfy him. Siddhartha has many queries in his mind like as, 'Do the sacrifices give a happy fortune?', 'What about the Gods?', 'Was it really Prajapati who had created the world?' 'Was it not the 'Atman', the singular one?' Siddhartha meets his father and says, 'With your permission, my father, I have come to tell you that it is my longing to leave your house tomorrow and go to ascetics. My desire is to become a Samara.' His father says-'You will go into the go forest and be a Samara , when you will find blissfulness in the forest, come back and teach me to be blissful.' This is just an excerpt, the whole book consists of spiritualistic way of narration, thus becomes interesting one. Once you start reading can't resist to leave the book in the mid.

Siddhartha meninggalkan keluarganya untuk hidup sebagai samana, namun jiwanya tidak menemukan kedamaian, dan dia pun pergi untuk menjalani kehidupan duniawi. Seorang anak terlahir untuknya, tetapi ini pun tidak menenteramkan hatinya, dan dia kembali mengembara. Dalam keadaan nyaris putus asa, Siddharta sampai di tepi sungai dan bertemu dengan Vasudeva si tukang perahu. Pertemuan ini menjadi awal kehidupannya yang baru—awal dari penderitaan, penolakan, kedamaian, dan akhirnya, kebijaksanaan.

This novel, set in traditional India, recounts the life of Siddhartha, a man for whom the path of truth passes through renunciation and the understanding of the unity that underlies all that exists. In its pages, the author offers all the spiritual options of man. Herman Hesse dived into the soul of the Orient in order to bring its positive aspects to our society. Siddharta is the most representative work of this process and has had a great influence on Western culture in the 20th century. The true profession of man is to find the way to himself.
